SAD REFLECTIONS

Words & Music by
DENNIS A. WESTGATE

Following on from my first album 'Sad Reflections' is another collection of love songs selected from some of my musical plays.

Just how many songs have been written over the centuries I wouldn't care to estimate, but affairs of the heart in all its many temperaments, is a subject that composers and poets, young and old, have been and hopefully, will always be inspired to write about.

For songwriters and lyricists, there has always been plenty of scope for interpretation, especially when love is the dominant factor in the storytelling and I offer no excuse for my own musings on this powerful, passionate, dangerous, delightful and delirious emotion.

SAD REFLECTIONS

SAD REFLECTIONS

The people that we meet
 The talk with laughing friends
 The sound of dancing feet
 In a dream that never ends
 I lie awake each night
 With these pictures on my mind
 Remembering the days I spent with you

The days I spend alone
 With just a photograph
 A heart without a home
 Is a heart without a laugh
 A smile within a tear
 Is no stranger to these eyes
 When I remember days I spent with you

And when people say I'll forget you someday
 Pictures of you fill my mind
 And try though I may to forget you each day
 I can't leave the memories behind

The laughter in these eyes
 Now sadly filled with pain
 The inner heart that cries
 Like the Winter's icy rain
 A love that slowly dies is another Spring again
 When I remember days I spent with you
